FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: Breakthrough in the Acoustic Field

LaGrange, GA – Nimlok West Georgia/Midtown Atlanta has introduced an acoustical panel that offers schools, museums and other venues to be aesthetically pleasing rather than just functional. They have full acoustical functionality but now serve dual purposes.

These panels absorb sound, which is crucial in schools and other large open areas that are traditionally very loud and require acoustic management. They can also provide graphic opportunities in cafeterias, media centers, gyms, lobbies, auditoriums. The panels are made of aluminum frames and power-stretch fabric so they are lightweight and durable. Graphics can be removed and replaced easily aiding in the install, cleaning, and storage.

“Nimlok’s Acoustical Graphic Panels have been created with beauty and function in mind,” says Mike Wilson, account executive. “These panels meet NRC standards for noise reduction, are lightweight and can be constructed almost any size or configuration to retrofit an existing area or implement into a new area.”

In addition, the panels offer schools the option to generate revenue by sell ad space to companies, parents or groups and clubs. “The possibilities are endless to create usable message space,” says Mr. Wilson.

Nimlok West Georgia/Midtown Atlanta creates custom modular tradeshow exhibits, event environments, and permanent solutions.
